
May 18, 2009

Bike Miami Days

It's been encouraging, inspiring, and downright astounding to see the kind of turnout that the monthly Bike Miami Days event has been getting. Although the City of Miami has been viewed in the past as unfriendly to cyclists, this event — which last month drew approximately 2,000 cyclists of all ages to the streets of Coconut Grove to ride and enjoy live entertainment and activities — could be just the thing to change the status quo. Today, Bike Miami Days returns to Downtown, hopefully with a couple thousand more cyclists in tow.

– Jason Jeffers

Price

FREE

When

Sunday May 17 (9am)

Where

Downtown Miami

Large Map »

Links

Info Source